Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

This column, if memory serves, has always commended the sentments expressed by the President in his public utterances, and seldom his public actions. His words and actions rarely have anything to do with each other. Occasionally they do. Sometime since he talked of taking appropriate measures to make Iceland a defense outpost for this country. It is with great relief we learn that this has now been done. We hope he will go the whole distance, obtain by lease if possible or by some sort of agreement the use of the Azores and the Cape Verde Islands, for the same purpose, U. S. defenses.

Along the same line, we hope that the noble sentiments expressed about New World solidarity will find realization in practical arrangements. We hope that credit of a businesslike kind can be extended to the Latin American countries, that U. S. capital can be safely invested in South America to develop its potential wealth in rubber, manganese, tin, copper, and the precious metals. We surmise that Henry Ford in developing his great rubber plantation in Brazil is doing more of a practical good neighbor turn than all the honeyed words our diplomats lavish on that great country.

While we love to listen to sweet words, in time they cloy. The American people have the reputation of being practical, but our diplomatic relations with other countries and our domestic policies for a long time, or so it seems, have been governed by idealistic if not visionary considerations. Planting defense outposts in the Carribean, in Nova Scotia, in Greenland and now Iceland, revives hope that at least in defense preparation our government proposes to adopt practical businesslike methods. On the other hand our foreign policy as expressed in our relation to Japan has been so sentimental as to appear almost fantatic. We have provided the Japanese with the means to murder our friends the Chinese. Some of our great oil companies have been greatly enriched thereby. We would have preferred a bolder course, one that might have given all the predatory nations pause. If we had slammed shut the trade door to Japan when that nation began its Chinese adveutnre, it might have had a salutary effect on the European dictators. There has never been anything for Americans to fear in the Pacific. The Japenese will not now nor ever would, dream of actually challenging us on the sea.

We thoroughly disapprove of encouraging the Finns, the French, the Greeks, the Yugoslavs, and now the Russians, to think that so long as they battle against the Germans, we will give them substantial assistance. In no case have we been prepared to do so. In these demonstrations there has been too much palaver and promise and too little performance, even though we have yearned to believe what the Pressident says.

In preliminary steps toward definite foreign policies we do like prudence and caution. These are good Yankee traits. But after the preliminaries are over a bold, confident course, such as Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt followed, is the traditional American way. Prudence and caution can quickly degenerate to hesitancy and indecision, to bluff and half measures that do nothing but aggravate a bad condition.

By the Gallup and Fortune polls it is apparent that the American people do not yet believe it necessary to intervene in the European war. Neither the Wheelers and Lindberghs, nor the Peppers and Knoxes have more than a minority following. The great majority of the people still hope that we shall avoid an active, "shooting part" in the war. The President clearly perceives this basic condition but though he is being harried by extremists on both sides, he is not being hurried. For that let us all be thankful. Hitler chooses his time to make war. If to war we finally go, let us choose our time.

Hunters Bag Lion

After a 15 hour hunt, State Lion Hunter Charles Ledshaw and a group of Nevada City sportsmen bagged a female lion which had been creating havoc among deer north of Nevada City.

The lion was treed by Ledshaw's dogs near Marsh's Mill.

The hunt for the lion began after Russell Farley, inspector for the state board of equalization, sighted it while he was enroute from Nevada City to Truckee.

Farley returned to Nevada City and informed Ledshaw. Farley, Herbert Skeahan, Captain A. H. Willard of the Fish and Game Patrol, John Tognarelli and Ray Arbogast joined Ledshaw in the hunt.

The lion was the ninth killed this year by State Lion Hunter Ledshaw.

Another of the beasts is believed to be still in the area. It has been sighted several times but Ledshaw's dogs have not yet been able to pick up the trail.

Preserve Our Historic Buildings

(EDITORIAL)

In the May issue of Sunset Magazine appears a picture of the old firehouse on Main Street with its gay little belfry, and its "elegant" old gingerbread work on balcony and porch railings. The building is of wood. It will not last many years longer unless something is done to preserve it. Sunset's editor says we that who live today and enjoy its picturesque facade and its historical character, have our choice. We can keep it from utter decay by a little care now, or we can "restore" it as well as we can (which is never very well) after it has tumbled down. The last is the hard way.

Both this fire house and the tall brick fire house on Broad Street should be kept and preserved as precious souvenirs of those days when Bret Harte, Mark Twain, William Stewart, and many another great hearted Argonaut lived, sung, wrote deathless prose or lifted their voices in stirring oratory, to mold their times, inspire the youth of these golden years, and to leave the stamp of their characters upon the communities in which they visited or lived.

We suggest that a joint committee of representatives from the city council, civic clubs and fraternities be formed to take eneregtic and effective measures to preserve and guard our historical buildings, especially those that are public property. No doubt from a practical standpoint it will pay well. Let us do it for purely sentimental reasons. Let us do it because we wish to preserve for our children some of the heirlooms of the city's illustrious past.

Debris Storage Behind Dam At Narrows Reduced Through Sale Of Power Facilities

The following telegram from Congressman Harry L. Englebright, announcing a reduction in the cost of storing debris behind the Yuba Narrows dam to 2.2 cents per cubic yard, was received yesterday. The telegram follows:

Harley M. Leete,
Nevada City Nugget.

Federal Power Commission just took final and favorable action on application Sacramento Valley Utility Company for construction powerhouse below the Narrows Dam. The sale of water by hydraulic miners for development of power or other purposes is authorized under laws I have succeeded in having passed by congress for the resumption and rehabilitation of the hydraulic mining industry. It will save miners approximately one million dollars on cost of the dam. The income from the hydroelectric plant at the Narrows Dam will make possible a tax of approximately only two and two tenths cents per cubic yard. Work on the power house will be started as soon as possible.

Assessed Valuation Of County Increases By Half Million

Assessment of Nevada County property for 1941 increased $474,895 over the 1940 assessment roll, County Assessor John M. Hammill's figures presented to the board of supervisors this week, show.

This gain was despite the removal from the county of equipment used in the construction of the Upper Narrows Debris Dam. That equipment was assessed last year at $150,000.

The public utility assessment roll, subject to approval by the state board of equalization has been set at $8,091,060, giving the total assessed valuation of property in the county $18,161,975.

The total last year was $17,687,080.

The assessed valuation inside the municipalities of Nevada City and Grass Valley was $3,336,520, less $1943,45 church and war veterans exemption.

The largest assessed valuation was outside the municipalities. It totaled $6,588,370, less $166,075 church and war veterans exemption.

The huge valuation outside the municipalities is due to the fact all the valuable gold mines are outside the city limits.

The increase this year marks more than 20 years of assessed valuation growth in Nevada County.

Near Completion—

The new living quarters being constructed on the second story of the city hall for Chief of Police and Mrs. Max Solaro is nearing completion. Chief and Mrs. Solaro will have a nice view from a porch, which faces Spring Street.

Three College Youths Named For Training

Military training will start for three Nevada County college students on July 21st.

The three, Robert Charles Schiffner, Shirley Haywood Brattin and John Keefe Wogan, were named to fill Nevada County's quota for that date. All had been attending college.

Yesterday nine left the courthouse here for Sacramento, where they were inducted into service and assigned training camps. They were Mose Adam Ferguson, Julius John Mazzanti, John Leatham Marks, Thomas Elmo Brooks, Halsey Dustin Ward, Harry Cecil McKown, Johann Karl Hissong, Volney Earl Sparks and Raymond Ernest Yarborough.

Mine Superintendent—

S. S. Chatfield, well known mining man of Nevada County, is now superintendent of the Big Bear Mines, at Big Bear Lake, San Bernardino County, California.

Men Walkout for Higher Wages at Local Sawmill

A WALKOUT OF MEN AT THE BUILDERS AND CONSUMERS LUMBER COMPANY PLANT IN GLENBROOK HALTED WORK FOR A SHORT TIME BUT MANAGER L. S. FOWLER REPORTED TODAY TWO-THIRDS OF THE MEN HAVE RETURNED TO WORK AND OTHER MEN NECESSARY TO CARRY ON THE WORK HAVE BEEN OBTAINED.

The men who refused to return to work reportedly have contacted the American Federation of Labor and an organizer was scheduled to arrive to take charge of the workers' battle for increased wages. The organizer is understood to be Chas. F. Daley, who caused so much trouble in the recent mine strike in Grass Valley.

It was indicated as soon as the men who are continuing to refuse to go to work are organized a picket line will be established at the plant.

The walkout at the Builder and Consumers Lumber Company sawmill occurred Monday afternoon. Fowler said two thirds of the men are continuing to work.

He said the men demanded an increase in wages but he informed them he could not afford to pay them the boost, and told them if they could get higher wages elsewhere they were welcome to leave.

The men reportedly asked for an increase of twelve and one half cents per hour. Normally, 18 men are employed at the lumber yard and sawmill.

Labor Difficulties At Almquist Sawmill Reported To Be Settled

Labor difficulties at the Lambert Almquist Sawmill near Scotts Flat on Deer Creek caused a short shutdown of operations there this week.

The dispute has reportedly been settled, however, and the men have resumed work.

Neither the Almquist Sawmill dispute or the labor trouble at the Builders and Consumers plant at Glenbrook were reported to the authorities.

MINER DROPS DEAD WHILE SEEKING WORK

Funeral services will be held in Grass Valley for Robert S. LeMaster, 36, Nevada County miner, who dropped dead yesterday after walking just a few feet inside the main gate at the Todd-California shipyard, where he planned to seek work.

The authorities notified the sheriff's office here to locate LeMaster's wife but later the local office was informed the wife was found in the LeMaster car nearby. In the car Mrs. LeHaster and the couple's two children, Carroll, 6, and Marilyn 5, had waited patiently for three hours for the return of the husband and father.

BOARD GIVES $900 FOR STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors this week appointed L. G. Lageson, county agricultural commissioner, and Loyle Freeman to have charge of the county's booth at the state fair. An allocation of $900 was made for the display at the fair.

The board, over the objection of Supervisor Frank Rowe, appropriated $1,000 for the improvement of the road from Graniteville to Jackson Meadows. It is believed the improved road will attract many recreationists into the area.

Rowe also objected to a resolution dividing gas tax money equally between the five road districts in the county but the resolution passed.

"The Man Who Lost Himself" Opens Here Saturday

Continuing along the come back road which started when he was cast as Gloria Jean's uncle in "A Little Bit of Heaven" Charles Ray, old-time star of the silent screen, will be seen in Universal's "The Man Who Lost Himself," which comes Saturday to the Nevada Theatre.

Ray, famous for his "country boy" characterizations not so many years ago, virtually retired from the screen after he lost a fortune in picture enterprises. Recently he has been accepting roles in an endeavor to establish himself once more as a screen player.

"The Man Who Lost Himself" he supports the stars, Brian Aherne and Kay Francis, in a screen comedy adapted from H. DeVere Stacpoole's famous novel. The comedy was produced by Lawrence W. Fox, and directed by Edward Ludwig.

BACK IN HARNESS

It all started with a small but unusual newspaper advertisement:

"WANTED—Machinists, lathe and shaper hands, 55 years of age and over."

Back of that classified ad lies another dramatic story of national defense—a tale of special skills and abilities recaptured and put to work serving the national welfare in an hour when all our available strength and cunning is needed for the tasks that lie ahead.

The story begins with the problems of a man named Clayton Hough, who as manager of a large rivet-manufacturing company was faced with the problem of handling heavy army, navy, and marine corps contracts. But the supply of available skilled workers was running short. So Hough went looking for men who had served industry well in the past, and who were now in retirement. And they have responded to his call.

At the present time, Hough's company turns out more than two million rivets and 500,000 metal stampings daily. Helping with this work for national defense are 20 per cent of all his employees who are in the latter part of middle age. One of the men is 72 years of age and was a machinist during the Spanish-American War. A number of others did similar work in the World War.

The company gives the men a "brushing-up period" while they do simple jobs to get the feel of the work again. Then they pitch in with the real work. Hough places great dependence upon them. "I think these old fellows will stay with me longer than young men," he says. "Young men are restless, want new experiences. These fellows look permanent.

The picture of older workmen, pensioners, peeling off their "smoking jackets" and putting on a pair of overalls because the country needs their services is another inspiring example of how a free country goes about doing a big job. As long as the American fibre proves as though and adaptable as this, we can have little fear that the nation's defenses will not remain secure!—Contributed.

NATIONAL DEFENSE BLUNDERING

After two months of secret investigation, the House Military Affairs Committee has submitted a blistering report to Congress, charging short-sightedness, costly blundering, lack of capacity and lack of coordination in the handling of the national defense program—and urging the appointment of a single "responsible head"—to bring order out of chaos.

The caustic report spares no one. It raps the President, Congress, the Defense Advisory Commission and the Office of Production Management with equal vigor. It criticizes the Army, Navy, Treasury, Maritime Commission and the State Department and it takes an unusually heavy slap at Secretary of Interior Ickes for spending his time "hating" business, instead of cooperating with it to speed production.

"It was painfully apparent throughout the testimony given before this committee," said the report, "that a lack of coordination and absence of a responsible head with authority and power to fix responsibility has been largely responsible for the deficiencies we are now experiencing all along the line. The Administration has been too prone when difficult problems arose, to dispose easily of them by creating another board only to add to the confusion of the assortment of agencies we now have. All of this has resulted in a deadly consuming of time and in the end we still have a divided authority."

In another chapter, the report charged that emphasis over the past few years has been put on social reform rather than national security, and warned: "As a nation we seem to have forgotten that without national security, social reform might well prove meaningless."

The House Committee has rendered a splendid service to the people of the United States in airing the facts regarding the confusion, buck-passing and lack of direction in the defense program. And it is to be hoped that the President and Congress will take speedy action to put our house in order before it is too late. The era of social experimentation has ended; it is time to prove that America hasn't gone soft—that we are still the greatest industrial nation on the face of the globe, as well as the most enlightened democracy. It is time to get to work!—Contributed.

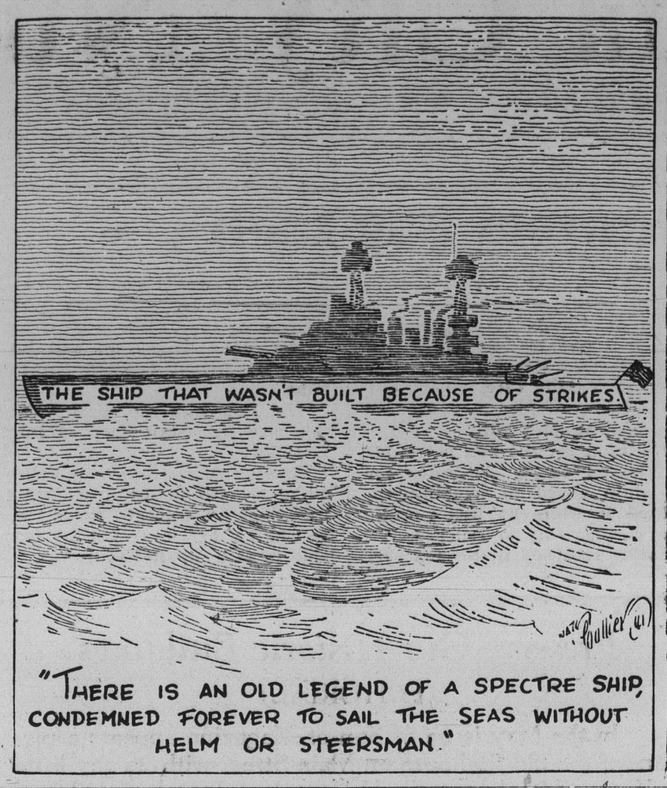
JOBS—NOT DOLES!

"More jobs are available in California industry and agriculture than there are employable persons to fill them!"

That statement, issued by Assemblyman Gerald C. Kepple and Frederick Houser, and subscribed to by six state senators and 15 other assemblymen, would seem to indicate that no great injustice should result from the fact that the legislature adjourned without appropriating funds for continuance of the SRA.

As a matter of fact, the number of cases on SRA had dwindled to 26,000 and was dropping at the rate of six per cent a week at the time aid was withdrawn. And there is considerable evidence to support the contention that many of those who were still on the SRA rolls would have continued to live on the state's bounty as long as it was available, regardless of the fact that jobs are available. The dole is gone, but jobs are opening up in every line of endeavor, and it's time that every employable got back into gainful, pridefu[illegible] employment.—Contributed.

"THE FLYING DUTCHMAN"



"THERE IS AN OLD LEGEND OF A SPECTRE SHIP, CONDEMNED FOREVER TO SAIL THE SEAS WITHOUT HELM OR STEERSMAN."

UNBELIEVABLE, BUT TRUE—THE 5-DAY MONTH

Statistics are just about as dry to most editors as they are to most readers. But sometimes in the course of interpreting rows of uninteresting figures, one runs onto the most vital and significant facts.

In the following figures may lie the answer to the greatest peacetime bottleneck that ever side-tracked this nation from a main-line job involving its own security. With locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen's unions demanding a 30 per cent wage increase, here is what the figures show: A passenger locomotive engineer on a California railway is now paid $8.67 an hour. However, his union so restricts the mileage he may run that he works only 43 hours a month—or 60 day a year — for which he receives $373 a month—or $4.476 a year.

The requested advance would increase his hourly pay to $11.27; his monthly pay to $485 and his annual pay to $5,820—for working, remember, 43 hours, or about 5 days a month!

Now pending is the withdrawal of the union's restrictions: if accepted, the engineer—if he preferred—could work 20 ordinary 8-hour days a month instead of 5. With his hourly pay check still at the requested $11.27, his monthly earnings would total $1,801—his annual income $21,624!

To the average man those figures tell an astonishing story and need no embellishment. We quote them from Railway Age" because they illustrate the current disregard for common sense seen in demands made on many vital defense industries in a period of national extremity—in the plane plants, shipyards, munitions factories, freight yards, docks and machine shops.

If this is the kind of stupid resistance that is unbalancing the wheels of necessary defense activities: if this is a sample of the demands the Ameircan workman would fling at his country's vital machinery at so critical a time as the present: if this is a taste of the unAmerican selfishness of leaders who would prevent the nation's arming for defense—then something is very wrong with the caliber of America's workmen and America's leaders, in labor and in government, who permit such wanton sabotage of all that is America!—Contributed.

AFL MAKES WAR ON LEGISLATIVE SYSTEM OF CALIF.

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

The California State Federation of Labor, having abandoned its plan to referendum the bill knocking out the secondary boycott and "hot cargo", is preparing, nonetheless, to initiate a proposal which would give labor complete dominance over future sessions of the state legislature.

Canny AFL leaders have admitted (but not for publication) that their abandonment of plans to referendum the legislature's act outlawing the secondary boycott was due to the fact that they were fearful of the results at the polls. And not wanting to risk a turndown from the voters, they have decided to make war on the legislature, instead of its enactments.

The proposal which the AFL will seek to qualify for the 1941 ballot by initiative petition is designed to give the cities complete control of the legislature, to break rural control of the state senate, which is now elected from rural districts, and to destroy those checks and balances that are so necessary to preserve a free democracy and protect minority groups within it.

With the assembly already elected on a population basis, and therefore controlled by urban areas, the proposed labor initiative would abolish the present system under which the senate is districted on a territorial basis, and would place the senate likewise on a strict population basis.

If adopted, this initiative amendment would virtually disenfranchise 51 rural counties in California, as 16 senators would be elected from Los Angeles County and 6 from the metropolitan counties of San Francisco and Alameda.

Thus, three metropolitan counties would elect 22 out of 40 senators, and the predominantly urban counties of San Diego, San Bernardino, Santa Clara and Sacramento, each entitled to one senator under the new proposal, would bring the total of urban counties to 26. As a result, the 51 predominantly rural counties would elect only 14 senators, and each of the proposed senatorial districts would have a population of at least 173,000.

Under the existing plan of legislative representation, patterned after the federal plan, the senate is elected on a territorial basis, and the assembly on a population basis, establishing a balance of power between rural and city districts. The rural counties now elect 33 out of 40 members of the senate, while the urban areas have complete control of the lower house.

It is interesting to note, in view of labor's insistence that California change its system of legislative election, that only 15 out of the 48 states now elect both upper and lower houses of their legislature from districts of equal population. Except for Nebraska, which has a unicameral legislature, the remaining 32 states all elect one house or the other on a territorial basis.

California agriculture has much at stake on the outcome of this contest, for agriculture is still California's most important industry, despite the fact that urban population now over balances rural population.

The raw materials which have made this state rich still come from rural counties; the wealth of this state still comes from rural lands. True, the raw materials are finished in the cities; true, the cities are the marketing centers. But California's fundamental wealth lies in its rural districts.

Is it right to disenfranchise the rural areas of California which have brought this state to greatness? Is it right to permit the processing and distributing centers to dominate the producing areas? Is it right to permit the men who live off the fruits of the soil to dictate to the men who produce the products of the soil?

This writer is willing to leave the answers to those questions to the rank and file voters of California, fully confident of the results if they go to the polls informed as to the basic question at issue.

California agriculture has won its right to its place in the sun by battling all the forces of nature. It certainly won't give up that place simply because some of the handlers of its products wish to dominate the entire industry.

DISPLEASED BY CATCHING OF SPAWNING CATFISH

H. F. Sofge, fishing with Roy Nelson and Haold Sofge at Ice Lakes this week, reported several so called anglers were proud of the fact they had 70 catfish in their creels.

Sofge openly expressed his displeasure at their method of catching the fish. They were wading close to the shore and grabbing the catfish which were spawning in the mud.

The Sofge party confined their activities to proper fishing methods and hooked a couple of bass.

It's there with an Extra Wallop in reserve

SOMETIMES in your automobile you want zip and ginger, sometimes thrift.

Just name your choice. In this high-stepping Buick straight-eight with Compound Carburetion† you can have either, each in its proper place.

You can go about your business in easy, ordinary, everyday travel—and this frugal, two-carburetor system will keep you rolling smoothly with only the forward, thrift-size mixer on the job.

Yet any time you want life, lift, super-power it's there with an extra wallop in reserve—just step down on the treadle and you've got it.

That simple move sends the second carburetor into action; steps up not only fuel supply but the air supply as well.

Thus you have your fun — and frugality too. Owners report mileage figures as much as 10% to 15% higher than on previous Buicks of the same size.

Which means, better go look at the engine that's both thrill-packed and thrifty too. You'll find it in a bigger, roomier, smarter-looking automobile that gives you more value per dollar than anything else you can buy.

$930 for the Business Coupe (illustrated above) including Compound Carburetion, delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices and specifications subject to change without notice.

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.

PAYS YOUR GAS TAX FOR YOU
At present Federal tax rates, the savings on gasoline effected by Compound Carburetion are usually more than enough to pay Federal taxes on the gas you buy.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder at the treasures found
Upon the mother lode,
Where claims that never peter out
Mark every winding road.
Our eyes may miss the gold concealed
In gravel and in ore,
But those who seek will surely find
A wealth of golden lore.

I wonder at the innumerable treasures sought by those who visit the little communities of the mother lode. Prospectors all, their objectives present a bewildering variety.

Monitors have begun to roar again along the mother lode and mining minded men are coming up to the ghost towns of the Sierras in search of golden treasure. Many of these modern pioneers are sturdy, well trained men, who know their auriferous gravel and are capable of appraising the content of gold bearing rock with uncanny accuracy.

If perchance they lack practical experience, and are confronted by problems for which they are not fully prepared, there is sure to be a long time resident standing by, with a whimsical grin upon his face and just the right amount of needed information.

Attracted by the lure of gold, many rank amateurs come to the hills to pursue a feverish quest for hidden wealth. We find them industriously panning top soil, hammering away at our croppings of barren rocks in the serene confidence that if, "gold is where you find it," they have found the where.

Back to the mother lode comes that ancient order of E Clampus Vitus, and in its weird ceremonies and rollicking pranks, the modern clampers find the same pure gold of fun and laughter discovered and enjoyed by the pioneers of old.

This by no means completes the list of those who come questing along the mother lode; there are artists and writers seeking the glowing colors of beauty, romance and historic data, students of plant life, bird life and geology, there are those who come for various recreational purposes; hunters, fishermen, tourists and vacationists. Prospectors all, who find, aside from the things they seek, rest, relaxation and escape from the cares and duties of daily living and that refreshment of the spirit which comes to those who lift up their eyes to the hills. Do we who are priviliged to live in this magic region of the golden west, fully appreciate the beauties and wonders which surround us?

Uncle Silas says: "That rosy glow upon a certain horizon isn't a great volcano in full bloom, it is a little brown nation blushing hotly. Japan is finding the triangular love nest most uncomfortable. She could be ever so faithful to either Hitler or Stalin, "were t'other dear charmer away," but with both of them tugging at her sensitive heart strings, the course of true love is running sadly awry. Maybe dear Cupid Masuoka shooting confused arrows, oh so." —A. Merriam Conner.

THIS WEEK in DEFENSE

The President indorsed the British recruiting drive for 15,000 to 30,000 American technicians to aid air raid detection in England. He also pointed out that American youth can join British or Chinese armed forces if they do not take an oath of allegiance to any country other than the United States.

He told a press conference the possibility of sending rifles to Eire is being considered if the Eire government gives assurances they would be used against Germany in the event of a German attack on Ireland.

Army

The War Department announced total strength of the Army as 1,441,500 officers and enlisted men, including: Regular Army 505,700; National Guard, 288,800; Selectees, 594,000; Reserve Officers, 53,000. Army Chief of Staff Marshall announced that Congress will be asked for funds to add 100,000 men to the Regular Army to replace those sent to outlying bases. The Army also announced it has recommended to the President that steps be taken to obtain authority to continue the National Guard and Reserve Officers on active duty for more than one year.

Navy

Navy Secretary Knox announced the U. S. fleet expansion program is "setting records every day." He also announced revision of enellistment contracts for the Marine Corps Reserve to provide service for the duration of the national emergency, and asked Congress for authority to continue all naval enlistment personnel in service for the duration.

Air

The War Department announced unification of its air activities in a new unit known as the "Army Air Forces," consolidating present units in a single command under Major General Arnold, Deputy Chief of Staff for Air. Secretary of War Stimson said the air forces are now independent within the department.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority announced a $95,000,000 program to complete work on 250 airports now under way and to construct or improve 149 additiona airports.

Aluminum Collection

Civilian Defense Director LaGuardia announced July 21 as the date when governors, mayors and other officials local defense councils and such organizations as the American Legion, Boy Scouts, women's clubs, farm and religious organizations will cooperate in collecting unneeded aluminum from every home in the land. LaGuardia estimated that 20,000,000 pounds of aluminum—enough for 2,000 fighter planes—would be collected.

Priorities

The OPM announced priority action on crude rubber, zinc and tungsten compounds. Rubber consumption is to be reduced 718,000 to 600,000 tons a year; 16,000 tons of metallic zinc will be reserved in an emergency pool to meet expected 1941 shortage; and priority control over tungsten has been extended two months past June 30, the originally scheduled expiration date.

Labor Supply

President Roosevelt created a Committee on Fair Employment Practice to investigate complaints of discrimination in defense employment and ordered all federal agencies to include in defense contracts a provision obligating the contractor to avoid discrimination. The President said in some instances workers have been barred from defense jobs "solely because of race, creed, color, or national origin."

Pair Arrested For Allowing Campfire To Escape Their Control

George E. McKune and Joseph D. Wagner of 610 M Street, Sacramento were convicted in Judge John Runckle's court in Dutch Flat Monday for allowing a camp fire to escape their control Sunday in Blue Canyon Creek below Midas on the Tahoe National Forest.

McKune was convicted of allowing a camp fire to escape and also for not having a camp fire permit and the required shovel and axe. He was fined $100 or 50 days in jail. Joseph D. Wagner was given a $50 suspended sentence.

Fire Prevention Officer Rafferty investigated the cause of the fire. The investigation on the ground developed definite clues as to the cause of the fire and the responsible parties. Sacramento detectives E. A. Spraktes and H. A. Warren assisted Rafferty in locating McKune and Wagner in Sacramento Sunday evening, July 6.

Supervisor Ellis states that McKune and Wagner had gone into Blue Canyon diggings on a prospecting trip. They knew they needed a camp fire permit and the required shovel and axe but thought they could get away with out these necessary requirements. Had they taken the necessary precautions before leaving on their camping trip they would have been able to fire proof the area surrounding their camp fire and it would not have escaped their control.

The hot weather during the past week has dried the grass and other forest debris. Until the fall rains, the forest will be as dry as tinder. This necessitates that all campers, recreationists and others going into the mountains must exercise extreme caution with fires. Strict complaince with the fire regulations is being enforced.

Yuba City Man Fined For Being Without Permit

Ranger John Hodgson of the Big Bend District on the Tahoe National Forest reports that Winfield Scott Ryan of Yuba City was arrested by Protective Assistant J. G. Wheeler on a charge of burning without a permit on the YMCA camp at Bear Valley on July 4. Ryan appeared before Justice of the Peace John R. Runckle on July 8 and upon pleading guilty was fined ten dollars which was paid.

Judge Runckle in passing sentence stated he was of the opinion that a concentrated effort should be made to keep fires out of our forests and that acts of carelessness and disregard pertaining to the state fire laws would not be condoned.

California highway patrolmen declare jumping the red light is like jumping a board bill—both lead to a trip to jail.

Take it easy! Blitz buggies are made for soldiers, not civilians.

Bank Continues Growth While Serving Defense

Local officers of Bank of America point to the bank's statement of condition of June 30, appearing elsewhere in this issue, as a picture of continued growth while the institution cooperated unreservedly with the national defense program and still maintained a full measure of service to ordinary business and individual needs.

Achievement of the new high marks under normal conditions and while coping with the requirements of many special services was regarded not only as a tribute to the efficient management of the bank but also as evidence of the entire state's economic soundness, to which this community has made an important contribution during the period.

FIRE CONTROLLED

State Division of Forestry and Tahoe National Forest fire fighters controlled a blaze in Blue Tent near the Arbogast Sawmill before it reached a heavy growth of timber.

CANDIDATES BEING GROOMED TO BEAT OLSON

By CLEM WHITAKER

Political ballons are going up in all directions, just like it was election year, instead of a year ahead of time — and some of the things one sees, in the sky are very interesting indeed!

Here are some of the balloons currently drifting across the horizon:

Dr. Walter Scott Franklin of Santa Barbara who won the GOP nomination for Lieutenant Governor in 1938, but was nosed out at the final, is an avowed candidate for governor next year. The good doctor, who polled more than a million votes at the 1938 election, is the first announced candidate for the Republican gubernatorial toga in 1942.

Governor Olson, whose stock was very low a year ago, is now flying high, wide and handsome, hoping to ride in for a second term, due to the national emergency and the traditional disinclination of American voters to switch horses in the middle of the stream.

Attorney General Earl Warren, the GOP's strongest bet at this writing, is tending to his official chores and saying nothing. His friends, however, are releasing his balloons for him—and Warren is still the biggest name in the Republican sky.

Balloons are also being sent up for Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles as a Republican aspirant, but while Mr. Bowron was re-elected a few weeks aback, his showing wasn't as impressive as the GOP scouts had wished for. There's considerable Republican activity, too, in behalf of Wallace Ware, former member of the State Railroad Commission, who now names L. A. as his home base.

In the Democratic sky, Senator Robert W. (Bob) Kenny of Los Angeles is floating around with the greatest of ease. Mr. Kenny, it is generally conceded, might have a good chance to beat Governor Olson in his own party, but dexterous, genial "Bob" may pull out of the gubernatorial fray and run for Attorney General if Warren should make formal announcement for governor.

If Kenny decides to run for governor or attorney general, you can put this down in your dope book—that Assemblyman Jack Tenney will run to succeed him as Lo Angeles County's member of the state senate. Tenney's campaign slogan is: "After Kenny, why not Tenney?"

Assemblyman Lee T. Bashore of Glendora is all set to take out after the GOU nomination for Lieut. Gov. and Senator Oliver J. Carter of Redding, who was previously mentioned for State Board of Equalization is said to be playing against Lieut. Gov. Ellis Patterson for the democratic nomination.

The air, in fact, is just full of balloons, with more going up daily, and political winds are blowing up from every corner of the state.

Miss Frances Savia Was Float "Pirate"

Miss Frances Savia was one of the attactive "pirate" girls on the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce's float in the Fourth parade in Grass Valley. The float was one of the most attractive in the parade and is still being talked of by the hundreds of spectators who lined the streets to witness the procession of more than 50 floats and units.

Dainty Blouse in Crochet

THE chic of your suit depends upon the right accessories, and this year's "softer suits" call for ultra-feminine blouses like this one. Crochet it yourself, making row on row of tiny tucks on a mesh background. Done in mercerized crochet cotton, a charming, sheer effect will be created—but you will get lots of practical, hard wear from it, too. Directions for crocheting the blouse may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper, specifying Design #1206.

Fire Destroys Summer Home And '41 Auto

The summer home, machine shop and 1941 automobile of W. [illegible] A. Borhman near Srady Creek on the North San Juan highway were destroyed by fire which originated in the electricity generating plant.

The fire spread to the surrounding brush and grass and burned over approximately 50 acres before controlled by state division of forestry fire fighting crews.

The Borhmans were eating at the time of the outbreak of the flames. They were unable to curb the fire and it quickly spread to the machine shop and home. Loss was estimated at $4,000.

The state division of forestry fire fighters fought the blaze for four hours.

New Record of Growth Shown In Bank of America Midyear Report

Defense Effort Promoted While Business Served

Another period of outstanding progress is revealed in the mid-year statement of condition of Bank of America, California's statewide bank, as of June 30, 1941. President L. M. Giannini pointed out that the record was achieved in the face of the new problems and substantially increased expenses due to the provision of extra staff and facilities to promote the defense effort, as well as rising costs generally and increased taxes.

Deposits stood at $1,685,488,000, an increase of $189,466,000 over the comparable date of June 29, 1940. Total resources were $1,877,738,000, a gain of $201,097,000 in the same period.

Loans and discounts outstanding aggregated $844,466,000, which is $119,891,000 higher than a year ago.

Earnings for the six months were $14,067,000. From this $2,246,000 was reserved for depreciation of bank premises and amortization of bond premiums and $2,726,000 was set up in reserves and applied to the absorption of losses and the revaluation of assets. After the payment of $5,340,000 in dividends at the annual rate of $2.40 per share of the common stock and $2.00 per share on the preferred stock and after $348,000 in profit sharing bonus to employees, capital funds were increased from earnings in the six months by $3,406,000.

Capital funds including capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves, now total $156,743,000, which compares with $152,206,000 on June 29, 1940, an increase of $4,537,000 for the year, after the application of $3,000,000 of capital funds for the purchase and retirement of 60,000 shares of preferred stock on January 2, 1941.

President Giannini pointed out that the Articles of Association which created the preferred stock provided for the increase of common capital by amounts equivalent to the par value of preferred stock retirements. Under this provision, $1,200,000, representing the par value of the preferred stock so far retired, has been set aside for future use either for an increase in the common stock or an increase in the par value of existing shares.

"This report is particularly gratifying," said President Giannini by way of comment, "because in the period covered California has been geared up to do a major job in defense production and our first thought has been to cooperate. Full facilities of the Bank of America have been made available for the defense effort, without overlooking the requirements of all other business. This has required increased staff and expanded facilities wherever it was possible to meet the needs.

"Strenuous times are here because of the preparedness effort, and more readjustments in our economy lie before us, but private enterprise remains a very important factor in the American scene and is in fact an essential in the cooperative effort necessary to generate America's full power."

—Christian Science Society

The Christian Science Society holds services at 114 Boulder Street every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday school 9:45 a. m.

A testimonial meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text will be: "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (John 13: 34, 35). Other Bible citations will include "Then he called his twelve disciples together and gave them power and authority over all devils and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick" (Luke 9: 1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy; "Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light" (p. 135).
